I didn't make any changes to the proposed design and tried to stay as close to spec as possible.

I tried to use the design document and follow it as closely as possible. I felt like it laid the framework for me to build the code around. The diagram connected the logic for me for the most part.

I think I spent so much time trying to build the program and import the file that I didn't get to spend much time running the function like I should have.
